Congratulations to the George Washington University School of Business Class of 2024. I am proud of what you have achieved. Whether you earned a four-year degree, a graduate degree or doctorate, you have successfully completed a highly-rigorous course of study. George Washington University is an institution that is renowned and respected across our nation's capital, our region, and the globe.

As a result of this milestone, you have earned the precious and invaluable advantages of an academic degree from one of the world's finest institutions, and membership in a nearly 60,000-member worldwide community of GW School of Business alumni. Building from your experience here, be sure to stay connected and engaged with this community, with your classmates. Your alumni status is lifelong.

Your adaptability and curiosity as learners will take you far, and this dynamic economy and business landscape needs your ideas more than ever. As you begin anew and proceed onto your next endeavors, I ask that you also impart the lessons and insights you gain to the students who will come after you.

On behalf of our entire GW School of Business, we are honored to have been part of this chapter in your lives and to have a role in helping you shape your futures. Congratulations once again!

Warm regards,

The School of Business would like to thank parents, family members, and friends for attending our celebration.

We ask that you please remain seated until the academic recessional has concluded.

The celebration program is meant to be a guide to the ceremony. Although every effort has been made to ensure its accuracy, the program is not an official record of an individual’s degree.
Greg Wong, a proud 1996 graduate of the George Washington School of Business Masters of Business Administration (MBA) program, has held leadership positions in the military, financial services industry, and technology sector.

Upon graduating from the University of Notre Dame with a degree in Computer Science, he served six years as a naval officer with the Navy’s Nuclear Propulsion Program. After receiving his MBA in Finance from GW, Greg became a member of Friedman Billings Ramsey (FBR), one of the most successful Washington, D.C.-based investment banking firms. FBR was founded by GW alumnus Russ Ramsey.

As part of FBR’s Technology Investment Banking Group, he led the Software corporate finance practice. During his over 11 year tenure at the investment bank, he completed dozens of capital market and merger & acquisition (M&A) transactions.

In 2008, Greg joined his long-term client, Web.com, as Executive Vice President of Corporate Development where he was responsible for all global M&A and equity and debt capital market activities. Since his initial involvement with Web.com in 2003, he grew revenue from $17 million to over $750 million, and created an over 10x return for shareholders. Five years ago, Greg spearheaded Web.com’s over $2 billion sale to private equity and subsequently retired.

As a retiree, Greg serves as trustee for the Wong Family Office where he focuses on limited partner investments in multi-family real estate, structured finance, and technology venture capital. In 2023, Greg joined the GW Investment Institute Advisory Board and has been a frequent guest lecturer at the GW School of Business.

His interests include competitive martial arts, boating, and international travel. Greg resides in Ponte Vedra Beach, Florida with his wife, Amy, two sons, Daniel and Liam, four cats, and a dog.
Hawa Kamara is a twenty-seven-year-old Sierra Leonean, West African woman from Alexandria, Virginia. She graduated from the illustrious Virginia State University with a Bachelor’s in English and a minor in Philosophy. Upon graduation, she gained meaningful employment fulfilling one of her passions in life as an English teacher in the DMV area. As an educator, she recognized that life held endless opportunities for learning and growth. After gaining extensive experience in customer and public service across multiple industries, and juggling the full-time role as a student who remained involved in passion projects within her community, her interest in establishing her own business grew, especially given her siblings’ entrepreneurial background. This prompted her to delve deeper into the essentials of business and inquire about how to improve the trajectory of her life. She decided to embark on her educational journey at George Washington University, choosing to pursue the Global MBA program as her starting point. Hawa’s innate leadership abilities have consistently shone through, enabling her to actively apply them during her tenure at GW. She served as the Graduate President of the DC chapter of the National Black MBA Association while also dedicating herself as a Student Success Coach for undergraduates. Today, Hawa takes pride in achieving what others deemed unrealistic by not only earning her Master’s of Business Administration with a concentration in Management but securing full-time employment with JP Morgan Chase, the nation’s top financial institution upon graduation. She stands before you now, with honor as your 2024 commencement speaker for the George Washington University Duques School of Business.
The mission of Beta Gamma Sigma is to encourage and honor academic achievement in the study of business, personal and professional excellence in the practice of business; foster an enduring commitment to the principles and values of honor and integrity; encourage the pursuit of wisdom and earnestness; support the advancement of business thought; and encourage lifelong learning.
